pend of $5 will be the customary offering for all Masses, high and low.

The bishop noted that since new liturgical directives eliminate the distinction between high and low Masses, the one stipend of $5 was set. He indicated, however, that the stipend fee does not preclude a priest from according less of a stipend from the poor.

NEW SALARY: Schedules for priests will find pastors receiving a base salary of $3,600 ($300 per month) with additions according to size of parish.

Associates who have been ordained one to three years will receive $250 per month; those ordained four to six years will receive $265 per month and those ordained seven years or more are to receive $280 per month.

Pastors in parishes with 850 and over units will receive $350 per month; 350 to 850 units, $325 per month and up to 350 units, $300 per month.

Non-parochial priests ordained one to three years will receive $250 per month; ordained four to six years $275 per month; ordained seven to 10 years, $300 per month and ordained 10 years and over $325 per month.

FULL SALARY will be paid by the institution which the priest serves with stipends from weekend help to go to the institution which salaries him.

Weekend help stipends are as follows:
- One Mass $15
- Two Masses $20
- Three Masses $25
- Confessions $5

Weekend help assignments will be the responsibility of the Personnel Board, Bishop Wyczalo noted.

Other benefits for priests include: Monthly car allowance of $40; Blue Cross allowance of $100 per year to be paid by the parish or institution; Leo Benevolent Society (Retirement Fund) to continue to be paid by parish or institution assessments; $75 per year for studies, and a food allowance of $75 per month.
